Peer Review on guaranteeing posted workers' rights (Vienna)

On the 28 February 2019, the European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research (European Centre) and the Austrian Federal Ministry of Labour, Social Affairs, Health and Consumer Protection (BMASGK) co-organized in Vienna a peer review in the frame of the Posting of Workers in Eastern Europe (EEPOW) project. The focus of the peer review was on how authorities and organisations manage posting and exchange knowledge and information, as well as establish and/or strengthen cooperation between the different institutions across the countries.

At the meeting took part as speakers:

Eva-Maria Fehringer, Austrian Federal Ministry of Labour, Social Affairs, Health and Consumer Protection

Federico Pancaldi, European Commission

Anette Scoppetta, EEPOW lead partner (European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research)

Sonila Danaj, EEPOW Project Coordinator

Robert Murr and Walter Neubauer, Austrian Federal Ministry of Labour, Social Affairs, Health and

Walter Gagawczuk, Chamber of Labour Austria

Cathleen Rabe-Rosendahl, Center for Social Research, Halle, Germany

Sanja Cukut Krilić, ZRC SAZU, Slovenia

Eszter Zólyomi, European Centre for Social Welfare Policy and Research

The peer review revealed that the participating countries had different experiences with posting. Austria and Germany are predominantly receiving countries, although they also have large numbers of workers posted towards other Member States. The trends between sending and receiving have been fluctuating in Italy due to the financial crisis, but the country has experience with both patterns. Meanwhile Slovenia is predominantly a sending country, which includes the posting of third country nationals, making Slovenia a transit country as well. There is variation among the candidate countries as well. Serbia has already experienced substantial posting with thousands of workers sent in the recent years, while North Macedonia has some experience with posting to Germany, and Montenegro or Albania having not used posting so far to send workers to the EU. Despite the fact that the Member States and the Candidate countries have different experiences with posting, in the peer review similarities in terms of information dissemination instruments and inter-institutional and cross-border cooperation were also identified.
